

We are having a 1-hour Zoom presentation August 27th @ 7:00pm showcasing 135 species of birds likely to be seen during Bird Quest (our annual 24-hour birding challenge on Sept. 11-12). One slide per specie showing photographs of male and female and a few comments about each regarding field marks and likely habitat where they may be found. It will move along so we can stay within the 1-hour window. It is meant to be a review for newer birders but everyone will enjoy 'brushing up' for fall migration. A section on Confusing Fall Warblers is included. Birds presented in taxonomic order, like paging through a new field guide!

You are welcome to share this opportunity with your membership – we currently have over 70 spots still available. They can register using the link below. Any questions – call or email me.

Thanks,

Matt Valencic

mmvalencic@roadrunner.com

440-785-6321 mobile

You are invited to a Zoom meeting: Birders Workshop – Review of 130 species likely to be seen in NE Ohio in mid-September

When: Aug 27, 2020 07:00 PM Eastern Time (US and Canada)

Register in advance for this meeting:

<https://us02web.zoom.us/meeting/register/tZckc-2vpj4sG9UbOxBuifCfWqt6hYiwlPKO>

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the meeting.